

Air movement network model building up screen

- Divided from 4 to 7 to simulate temperature changes inside the duct.
- In consideration of leakage from the duct, supply and exhaust blowers were installed on the exit side, providing class one ventilation system.
- In order to avoid abnormal indoor pressure, the equivalent gap area was assumed to be $1 \text{ cm}^2/\text{m}^2$, and the gap was distributed evenly on the outer skin.