

Comparison with experimental data

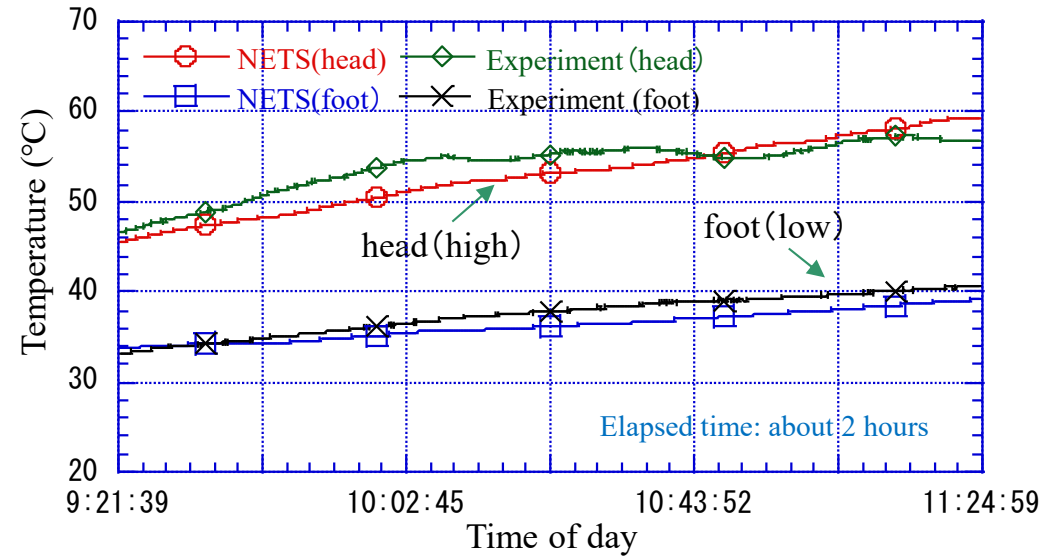

The optimal coefficients were found from the experimental data,

Pressure loss coefficient of flow path

Thermal conductance due to interlayer mixing

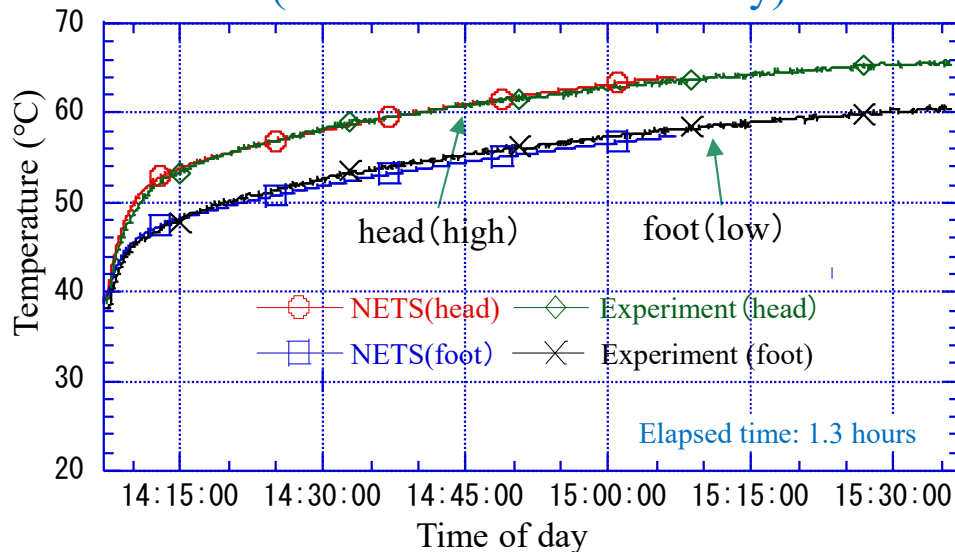

Comparison of natural room temperature (outdoor)

Two types of coefficients were adjusted, and all curves agree well.

Forced convection heating experiment (Environmental laboratory)

Natural convection heating experiment

